Articles, Media Appearances

[Disclaimer: Dr. Hufnagel has, from time to time, granted interviews or participated in media broadcasts in order to educate the public about health care issues. Dr. Hufnagel typically does not have any editorial influence over the resulting press reports. Therefore, the integrity and professionalism of the journalist(s) involved become critical in ensuring the accuracy of published reports. In some instances, the expected professionalism and integrity were lacking and inaccuracies were published. In a very few cases, unscrupulous journalists created and published slanderous and defamatory articles. There are ongoing efforts to vigorously redress the damage caused by these articles. The following list is based on information in databases. Because it is a work in progress and updated periodically, it may contain inadvertent omissions.]
